Putting a face on our impact:

“A couple weeks before summer break, the school nurse came to see us about a 12-year-old boy. She told us that she had traveled to his guardian’s home to help fill out the consent form for him to see us; she was concerned that he would never have the chance to see the dentist if he did not see us while we were at his school. After his cleaning and exam, we discovered that he had a cavity in each one of his 28 adult teeth. The patient told us that sometimes the water was off at his house and he had lost his toothbrush the last time they moved. He was excited to see the dentist since the nurse had told him we could fix his teeth; he hoped we would be able to fix the grey spots (cavities) on his front teeth since they made him not want to smile. During our first restorative appointment, we restored his front adult teeth. Because his upper lip was numb, he wasn’t able to get a good look at his teeth immediately after the appointment. The next day, in the hallway, he ran up to me, smiled, and pointed at his teeth. He was so excited that there were no more dark spots on his teeth!”
